1 Purpose

This document provides guidance on the types of Triggering Events which prompt the Credit Union and its employees to review and update Know Your Member (KYM) information for a member:

- This applies to all employees when opening, maintaining, or making changes to all membership account types.
- At the Credit Union, Know Your Member (KYM) means Know Your Client (KYC)

2 Overview

2.1 Triggering Event

A Triggering Event is an event that requires employees to update all KYM information for a member.

Refer to Triggering Event Types section below on what events trigger required updates to KYM Information.

2.2 Know Your Member (KYM) Information

Know Your Member (KYM) Information is information the Credit Union uses to:

- Verify a member's identity
- Understand a member's needs and expected activity

The Credit Union and employee's must perform due diligence in updating the KYM Information for a member at the time of a Triggering Event, so that all the information is on file.

This ensures we identify:

- Potential regulatory reporting requirements
- Opportunities to grow a relationship with a member
- Any additional products that better suit a member's needs

KYM Information can include, but is not limited to the following:

• Phone Number	• Address	• Email Address	• Date of Birth
• Occupation and Employer	• Nature of Business	• ID Documents	• Intended Use of account
• Third-Party Determination	• Business Relationship	• Foreign Tax Declaration (FATCA & CRS)	• Politically Exposed Person (PEP) status
• Beneficial Ownership	• Director Information	• Registration/Incorporation Information	• Resident Tax Country

3 Updating KYM Information

Credit Union employees will use the KYM Tool whenever a triggering event prompts you to update KYM information for a member.

Refer to the Know Your Member \(KYM\) Tool Procedures for support.

3.1 Record Keeping

After a member's KYM information has been updated, employees must record the date that the KYM information was reviewed by completing the Date of Last Compliance Review User Field in the Banking System.

This is applicable to both personal and business memberships and must be completed any time a triggering event is conducted or on a regular ongoing basis as required.

If no KYM Information was changed but the information was reviewed by employees and confirmed as up to date by the member, this field must also be updated to reflect the date the information was reviewed with the member.

5 Exceptions

If an action is required to mitigate risk, it might not qualify as a triggering event.

For example, a courier delivers a cheque from a law office payable solely to a member, but the member only holds a joint account. As an exception, approval could be granted to accept the cheque for deposit, but the branch would need to open a new account to ensure the ownership of the funds is consistent with the payee of the cheque. In this scenario, the action would have been initiated by the branch to facilitate the deposit of the cheque, using the existing KYM on record.

For further information on this example, refer to the Negotiable Instruments Guideline or contact the AML Compliance Department.
