This document provides guidance on how to withdrawal services from a member after a recommendation to withdraw services has been approved.

2 Withdrawal of Services

When a recommendation to withdraw services has been approved, the determination on what services are to be withdrawn and the timeframe for doing so, must also be made. Services may be withdrawn immediately or after further conversation with the member, ensuring that sufficient time is provided for the member to move services without impeding their ability to do banking.

For more information on when and how the Credit Union can withdraw services, refer to the Withdrawal of Services Guidelines on Genie or the Source.

2. The AML Compliance Team will add a Person Restriction warning flag on the banking system, and include notes that state:
 - a. No transactions allowed – services withdrawn.
 - b. No new accounts permitted to be opened – services withdrawn.
3. The letter is to be signed by the Branch Manager where the relationship is held
 - a. Should there be staff safety concerns with the service restrictions, the letter may be escalated through to the AVP/Regional Manager or the AML Compliance Team
4. The AML Compliance Team will email the letter to the applicable branch to be mailed to the address on file via registered mail.

A copy of the letter must be archived under the members file within the document repository.

2.3 Closing Account

The following process is to be completed to close an account after the date that accounts must be closed by has passed.

1. The AML Compliance Team will follow up with the branch, outlining that the account is to be closed, and provide a letter that is to be sent to the member with the official cheque as detailed below.
2. The branch will close the account; however, the membership shares will remain open.
